

DESTROY PRISON SOCIETY ➡➡

Prison is much more than four walls of a vile institution; prison as a condition is reflected and reproduced in the world that surrounds us.

It is the cameras on every street corner surveilling our comings and goings; it is the DNA and fingerprint databanks that record our most personal details; it is the borders and constant threat of detention and deportation that would keep us from freely choosing where we want to live. It is the threat of work or imprisonment; the routine of work and school; the domestication of life.
